

cool canals PUB DAYS OUT

Great pub days out along Britain's canals are about soaking up the slow charms of some very special canalside pubs, taking time for long lazy lunches on the waterside.

Spend the day unravelling the mysteries of fascinating lock flights, discovering the marvels of manmade heritage and meeting waterways wildlife.

Enjoy locally brewed ales and ciders, huddle up to cosy open fires in winter and loll in waterside beer gardens in summer, watching narrowboats drift by.

- Handpicked characterful canalside pubs
- Each pub is featured in detail with the authors' discerning observations & inspiring photography
- All you need to get the most out of a full day out: sightseeing, boat trips, towpath ambles, gongoozling (canal speak for watching boats)
- Packed with essential information about food, drink & transport (and of course, tips on great real ales)
- Dog-friendly info

Key sales points:

- Over 250 inspiring colour photographs
- Waterside pubs from across the whole of the UK
- Each pub day out has been personally researched by the authors and handpicked from their end-to-end canal trail (long pub crawl!) which has attracted media interest
- General interest in the canals is at an all-time peak and growing, with over 250 million annual individual visits

Title: Cool canals Pub Days Out (Britain)
 Authors: Phillippa Greenwood
 & Martine O'Callaghan
 UK Publication date: 15/3/10
 Format: B (148mm x 190mm) Paperback
 Extent: 256pp
 Illustration: Full colour photographs
 UK price: £12.99
 BIC Code: WTHR
 Rights: World
 ISBN: 978-0-9560699-2-4
 Classification: Travel

The authors, Phillippa and Martine:

Waterways nomads Martine & Phillippa have a passion for canals that leads them to extremes: from their narrowboat 'good life' with their 4 cats, to walking over 2,000 miles along the canals from the sands of Cornwall to the Highlands of Scotland.

They also have more than a passing interest in good canalside pubs. They've quaffed ale, tucked into platefuls of food, scrutinized for real smiles behind the bar and found some of Britain's best canalside pubs for chilled days out along the water.

“ What the Daily Telegraph says about the authors:

Perhaps, in their paean to canals, these two wacky, counter-cultural women really have captured something of the Zeitgeist. Coolness isn't a fast car any more. It isn't a crowded cocktail bar. It certainly isn't a Caribbean beach, rubber-necking at celebrities. It is knowing when to slow down, take time out, commune with nature, savour pleasures too precious to be rushed.

Daily Telegraph September 2009

Stocked by Bertrams and Gardners. Also available direct from us or through your usual wholesaler
 PR enquiries, email: pr@coolcanalsguides.com Orders & general enquiries, email: trade@coolcanalsguides.com
 Tel: 01684 562098 Coolcanals Guides Limited, 128 Newtown Road, Malvern, Worcs. WR14 IPF www.coolcanalsguides.com
 Registered in England and Wales No. 7031498